

Installing solar power in rural areas is a scam

It's likely a scam. While there are some government-funded solar programs for households that qualify, "going solar" isn't free. Honest businesses will tell you exactly how much it'll ...

While you are browsing solar power companies, one of them may offer to install a solar panel or solar roof in your home for a small cost or even for free. It's an intentionally misleading...

The rooftop solar business is a big source of consumer complaints. Across the country, prosecutors are investigating sales practices and financing arrangements.

No information about the cost to remove or transfer solar panels, which could lead you to believe you have future options that might not be available or affordable

Con artists use misleading sales tactics and lies to trick homeowners out of money and personal information. If you've received an offer for "free solar panels," it could be a scam. Always ...

As solar energy becomes more popular, so do scams targeting homeowners. Fraudulent callers often impersonate government agencies or utility companies, offering "free" solar panel ...

To avoid getting scammed, you need to know what to look out for and when to walk away. Here's our guide to spotting solar panel scams and finding a great installer. If something you see or hear from a ...

Take the time to learn how you can protect yourself from being a victim of a solar scam. There are many reputable solar companies in the area ...

Take the time to learn how you can protect yourself from being a victim of a solar scam. There are many reputable solar companies in the area that FreeState members have purchased ...

Find out if solar power is worth your investment or just a clever scam. Learn from real homeowner experiences and expert tips to make the smartest decision for your home.

The Energy Department and the Solar Energy Technologies Office have warned consumers about this type of online scam involving solar panels. We rate this claim False.

Installing solar power in rural areas is a scam

Web: <https://www.rocksteadyfloors.co.za>

